

— PERFORMANCE MARKETING

EVERYONE WANTS THE HACK. NOBODY WANTS THE HABIT.

The most profitable ad account I have ever run had zero “growth hacks” in it.

THE REAL LESSON

THE NUMBER ISN'T THE FLEX. THE BORING IS.

22x isn't a campaign. It's four unglamorous habits, repeated until they compounded. Here they are.

— HABIT 01

KILL LOSERS FAST.

Most marketers protect underperformers out of ego. We cut anything below target in days — so budget only ever fed winners.

 HABIT 02

FIX THE OFFER, NOT THE AUDIENCE.

Everyone edits the targeting. We rewrote the reason to buy. Cost-per-purchase fell to ₹150–500 while order value climbed.

HABIT 03

READ ROAS BY CAMPAIGN.

Same account, same month: one campaign returned 40x, another 12x. Blend them and you'll cut the wrong one. Averages lie.

 HABIT 04

BE IN THE ACCOUNT

DAILY.

No set-and-forget. A 22x return is a hundred small decisions — pause, shift, test — repeated for 36 months straight.

— FOR THE INDUSTRY

THE HACK IS THAT THERE IS NO HACK.

While everyone chases the next AI trick, the fundamentals sit right there — unglamorous and undefeated.

What's one "growth hack" you've watched quietly die? 📌
